GIANTS WORLD'S CHAMPS; DEFEAT YANKS THURSDAY

Yankees Lose Decisive Game 2 to 1 Thursday Afternoon.

PLAYED EIGHT GAMES

Huggins' Men Fail to Capture Place Despite Early Lead.

Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Baseball hailed a new world's champion today in the person of the New York Nationals.

For the first time in the history of the inter-league clashes for the championship in which the two New York teams faced each other, the representatives of the older organization won the title by defeating the junior league stars this afternoon, in the eighth game of the scheduled nine-game series, by the score of 1 to 0.

The game by which the Nationals showed their superiority over the Yankees was a masterful exhibition of the national pastime. After the first inning, when the Nationals solved the offerings of the kid hurler, Hoyt, before the lad who had already won two games in the big event, had gotten his bearings, neither side was able to cross the plate.

From that time on the kid blanked his opponents inning by inning, pitching a clever game, and showing the same sort of ability that won for him in the two games he had already worked in. On the other hand, Artie Nehf, McGraw's fallen ace, had to redeem himself, and this he did in the remarkable exhibition turned in by him. Hard luck helped him to lose on two other starts in the big series, but anxious to prove his ability by helping the Giants win the deciding game he turned in the kind of game that won for him in the pre-series fight for the National League rag. Nehf stood up and set them down in perfect order his pitching showing all the good points that his previous exhibitions had lacked.

The victory of the Giants, in one of the hardest fought series ever hung up in the annals of baseball, was an example of the fight and reserve power that has always been instilled in his players by that redoubtable leader, Muggsy McGraw.

The National Leaguers were handicapped on the get-away when the swift going Yankees won the two opening games. They failed, however, to take the heart out of the McGraw clan who came back stronger in the third contest, and arousing from their batting lethargy, hammered out a decisive victory. Saturday was an off day because of rain, and the fourth game was played Sunday, at which which time the Giants won their second game, and tied up the series with two apiece.

Again the Yankees stepped out in front, winning the fifth game Monday, and obtaining a one-game lead on the series. And again, the not-to-be-out done McGrawmen, came back in the sixth stanza of the series, and for the second time, evened the count and placed the series on even trms.

It was then that the turning point in the big series came. With one team, bound to take the lead in the seventh game Wednesday, the Giants showed their aggressiveness for the first time and for the first time set themselves up as the pacemakers by winning that contest and giving themselves the benefit of a one-game lead. With the series narrowing down to the final game,, the one-game advantage was aplenty. Their victory Thursday afternoon was all that was needed to bring the series to a close, and turn back the Yankees' hopes of a world championship pennant after being inspired with this hope during all of the early games.

The score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E

Batteries: Giants—Nehf and Snyder; Yankees—Hoyt and Schang.

NEW ALSACE LORRAINE PROBLEM NOW CREATED

HUSBAND SOLD HER FOR FIFTEEN CENTS

Toledo, Oct. 13.—Mrs. Anthony Perosky today appealed to the police for protection from her husband, who, she declared, sold her at auction for 15 cents to Leo Ploom, who claims to be a minister.

Mrs. Perosky told police she was forced to stand before a crowd of men while her husband menaced her with a horse whip, as he conducted the auction. She declares she was "knocked down" to the first bidder. Perosky is under arrest.

SEEK POWERFULLY BUILT SWORN ENEMY OF LUCIEN SOWARD

Coronor Conducts Examination But Crime Still Unsolved.

Dayton, Oct. 13.—Coroner E. E. Kimmel is conducting his inquest into the mysterious murder of Lucien A. Soward, Dayton attorney found brutally slain in his office, Monday afternoon. Twelve witnesses were to testify during the day, but it was doubted that any light would be shed on the mystery.

Detectives at work on the case were checking up the movements of an unnamed "powerfully built and wealthy Dayton man" declared to have been a sworn enemy of the dead man. Aside from that fact there have been no new developments of any character.

The funeral of the dead attorney was held at 10 o'clock today from the family residence in Oakwood. It was private but many members of the Dayton Bar Association attended in a body. Burial also was private.

COUNCIL APPROVES NEW NAVAL PLANS

London, Oct. 13.—A Spanish cabinet council has approved a new naval program for the construction of 58 war craft of various classes during the next six years, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Madrid today. The vessels to be built are four fast cruisers, six destroyers, twenty gunboats and 28 submarines.

PREACHER FINED; CALLED JUDGE "WET"

Bedford City, Va., Oct. 13.—Holding that preachers are dealing too much in politics now instead of preaching the gospel, Judge B. C. Scott of Richmond imposed a fine of $25 on Rev. T. E. Boorde for alleged contemptuous remarks concerning Judge P. H. Lillard, who it was alleged, was referred to by the minister as a "wet" jurist.

At a recent meeting of a church association, Mr. Boorde is alleged to have said in part: "Brave revenue officers risk their lives, right here in Bedford County, only to have evaders of the law, whom they have taken such efforts to catch, acquitted by a 'wet' judge. I am speaking of Judge P. H. Dillard and in case any of his friends are present or hear what I say today, my name is T. E. Boorde."

SETS NEW LOW RECORD

New York, Oct. 13—The German mark hit a new low record on the market today falling to .71 of a cent. Before the war the mark wasworth 23.8cents.

GERMANY LOSES RICH SLICE OF UPPER SILESIA

League of Nations' Decision May Result in Trouble In Germany.

Berlin, Oct. 13.—All Germany seethed today over the possibility of losing the richest part of Upper Silesia to Poland and already the battle cry has been raised that the loss of the province will create a new Alsace Lorraine problem.

While the official text of the league of nations decision partitioning Upper Silesia has not yet been made public, it is accepted here as a foregone conclusion that Germany will not get what she asked for and the Wirth cabinet faces the most critical period of its existence. It was rumored that the chancellor already has tendered his resignation to President Ebert, but this was promptly and officially denied. The reichstag may be called into session to deal with the situation.

Turbulence which is sure to follow the publication of the league's decision may give France the background for insistence upon undiminished military power. This, in turn, would be Great Britain's cue for the maintenance of her traditional sea power policy.

Silesia, like all German problems is but one of the pawns in a greater international game, though some of the Berlin statesmen are still moving in the atmosphere of the past when threats were backed up with weapons of a great army and fleet. However, a few far-seeing men in high positions are looking to the future by urging the closest and most trustful mutual relations with the United States as the "only nation that is not animated by selfishness."

Indeed, it would not be surprising if, after the Upper Silesian decision is formally promulgated, an appeal is made directly to the United States. This would be the only alternative to resignation of the Wirth cabinet. At the same time this message is sent it looks here as if the downfall of the Wirth ministry were inevitable.

Pessimism over Upper Silesia has knocked the bottom out of the chances of the German People's Party entering the present government. This party embodies the industrial and agricultural wealth of the country. It has offered the country 2,000,000,000 gold marks in foreign credits to help pay indemnity and stabilize the mark. This offer would have assured the next payment of reparations without question, but it was made on the expectation that Upper Silesia would not be divided and would furnish Germany with a rich mineral and industrial reservoir from which to draw future wealth to pay debts.

PLAN FOR STRIKE WHICH THEY HOPE WILL NOT OCCUR

Rail Union Leaders Continue Conferences In Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Rail union leaders today continued conferences here to plan for a strike that they hope will not take place. The conferences, attended by the heads of the "big four" brotherhoods are being held to outline procedure in the event that it becomes necessary for the brotherhood leaders to call the strike unauthorized by vote of their memberships.

With the union leaders in conference, executives of many of the railways of the country began arriving here for a conference tomorrow. Although it is declared there is no connection between the conference railway executives and those of the union leaders observers predict that the strike issue will be foremost in the discussions of both of them.

Senator Philander C. Knox Dies Suddenly Wednesday

Washington, Oct. 13.—Philander Chase Knox, senator from Pennsylvania and secretary of state under President Taft, died suddenly at 6:30 o'clock last evening at his home here. He was stricken with paralysis after descending the stairway on his way to the dining room for dinner and passed away 15 minutes later without regaining consciousness.

Mrs. Knox and the senator's secretary, W. F. Martin, were near the senator and hurried to his aid. Dr. Samuel Adams was summoned immediately, but found Mr. Knox beyond medical aid.

Senator Knox returned to Washington Monday night from a trip to Europe with Mrs. Knox and attended the sessions of the senate Tuesday and Wednesday. Leaving the chamber about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the senator took an automobile ride through Potomac Park and stopped on his way home to purchase tickets for a theater performance last night. Reaching home the senator went to his library where he remained until summoned to dinner.

President Harding, Chief Justice Taft, Senator Lodge, Senator Penrose and other friends and close assistants of Mr. Knox were soon notified of the senator's death. The news came as a shock to all official Washington, for the senator, through his services first as attorney general under President McKinley and Roosevelt and later as secretary of state had a wide circle of friends in all walks of public life, congressional diplomatic and legal.

Arrangements for the funeral will be made today, after the arrival in Washington of Senator Knox's sons, Reid Knox of Valley Forge, Pa., and Hugh S. Knox of Stratford, Pa., and daughter, Mrs. James R. Tindall of Valley Forge. A third son, Philander Chase Knox, Jr., resides in Washington.

It is planned to hold funeral services for the distinguished Pennsylvanian here tomorrow at St. John's Episcopal church with members of the senate foreign relations committee as honorary pallbearers and intimate friends of the dead senator as active pallbearers.

Following the funeral service it is planned to take the body to Valley Forge, Pa., for burial.

The senate met today and adjourned out of respect to the senator and with the house will name a committee to attend the funeral. Senator Knox's home was in Pittsburgh and he also had a summer home at Valley Forge. The place of interment has not yet been announced.

While at the senate today Senator Knox apparently was in the best of health, although he had been somewhat overtaxed lately in connection with senate work, with reference to restoring the technical state of peace with Germany, Austria and Hungary. He was the author of the peace resolution bearing his name and one of the senate conferences in adjusting it with the Porter resolution. The resolution was passed at this session of Congress and it was under it that President Harding negotiated the pending treaties of peace with Germany, Austria and Hungary.

When Congress took a recess late in August, Senator Knox left for Europe, with Mrs. Knox, for a vacation and was absent slightly more than three weeks. He sought to reach Washington in time to vote on the Panama Canal tolls repeal, but arrived some hours after the vote had been taken. He told his assistants that while he has been benefitted by his vacation he felt somewhat tired.

Senator Knox was 68 years of age and was serving in the senate for a second time having first been appointed in 1904 to succeed the late Senator Quary. He was elected to succeed himself in 1905, but resigned four years later to become secretary of state.

Always a political power in Pennsylvania and high in the national councils of his party, Senator Knox was said by his friends not to be a politician. His election as senator following his cabinet service was said to be more in decogniation of his statesmanship than a matter of state politics.

In the senate Mr. Knox spoke infrequently and his occasional addresses, usually carefully prepared, were attended closely by members on both sides of the chamber. He was one of the most prominent of the "irreconciliables" in the Republican fight against the treaty of Versailles and was reputed to have been the author of some of the so-called Lodge reservations to the treaty, among them the provisions dealing with retention of control over seized enemy property.

TO FACE CHARGE OF CHEATING INNKEEPER

Dayton, Oct. 13.—W. E. Miller arrested at Cincinnati Saturday in connection with the Wentzell robbery and shooting is free of that charge but faces trial on the charge of defrauding an innkeeper. J. E. Copp, who reported being held up, kidnapped, robbed and bound to a tree, who by police was said to have identified Miller as one of his assailants indignatly denies that statement, he said. "I never even saw Miller and therefore could not have identified him as the police declare I did." Aside from the board bill charge against Miller, he faces nothing. Wentzell and others failed to identify him as the robber and gun user.

CRISIS PRECIPITATED IN IRISH PEACE OVER SEPARATION QUESTION

Michael Collins Threatens To Withdraw From Conference.

OFFICIALS WORRIED

Gravity of Situation Plain, as Meeting Suddenly Adjourns.

London, Oct. 13.—The gravest crisis of the Irish peace situation was reached this afternoon when the peace conference suddenly adjourned and Michael Collins, the outstanding figure of the Sinn Fein delegation threatened to withdraw.

The crisis has been precipitated by Premier Lloyd George, who asked the Sinn Fein delegates whether they would consent to a continution of the deliberations upon the basis of Ireland remaining a part of the British empire.

Upon the Sinn Feiners' answer depended whether or not the parley would continue.

When adjournment was taken shortly after 1 o'clock, Collins was apparently angry.

"Will the parley continue.." he was asked. "We are not coming back," snapped the commander in chief of the Irish republican army. Before he could say any more, Arthur Griffith, head of the Sinn Fein delegation, broke in:

"Well we are coming back at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The gravity of the new developments was plainly written on the faces of the British envoys, when they left the premier's residence. They looked worried and anxious.

Shortly after 1 o'clock adjournment was taken until 11 o'clock Friday morning.

At Irish headquarters it was denied that there had been any break in the conference.

SPLIT IN RANKS OF UNEMPLOYMENT MEETING OCCURS

Report Submitted Contains Recommendations of Drastic Nature.

Washington, Oct. 13.—President Harding's national unemployment conference split along widely divergent lines today in the reports submitted by the various committees dealing with the present economic depression and suggested remedies.

A report submitted to the conference by the powerful committee on manufacturing contained recommendations of a drastic nature, including the total abolition of the railway labor board and the transfer of its powers to the Interstate commerce commission; the repeal of the Adamson (railway) act and the settlement of the government's obligations to the railways.

The labor members of the committee, Samuel Gompers, Mrs. Sarah Conboy and Roy Dickerson refused to subscribe to the report and will submit a minority report.

SHOW EVIDENCE OF CONSPIRACY AGAINST MINES

Plot to Stifle Coal Production in West Virginia Revealed.

PLANNED BOYCOTT

Coal Operators Attempt to Prove Unlawful Combination.

Huntington, W. Va., Oct. 13.—Evidence of the existence of an alleged far reaching conspiracy to stifle coal production in West Virginia will be presented to federal court at Indianapolis, tomorrow, by coal operators whose mines represent investment of millions of dollars.

The Borderland Coal Corporation, West Virginia and sixty two associate companies of this state and eastern Kentucky will charge that United Mine Workers officials and operators of the Central Competitive Coal fields of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, conspired together in 1898 to boycott West Virginia coal and drive it from the market.

Colonel Z. T. Vinson, counsel for the operators made public today details of the claims to be made at Indianapolis in seeking an injunction to restrain the United Mine Workers of America from endeavoring to organize the West Virginia unorganized fields.

"The United Mine Workers of America," charged the operators brief, prepared for the injunction suit, "is now seekin by inducement, threats, violence, murder, insurrection and open warfare to cause the employes of the plaintiff to leave their service and to prevent others from working for the plaintiff, all with the professed and avowed intent and actual purpose of carrying out an an unlawful combination and conspiracy formed in the year 1898 and now existing between the United Mine Workers of America and the coal operators of the 'Central Competitive fields".

West Virginia coal was not of commercial importance until about 1895 according to Colonel Vinson when its competition began to be felt in interstate commerce. Production gradually increased in this state until West Virginia coal was being sold in every domestic and foreign market, the competition being keenly felt by operators of the 'Central Competitive fields'

Col. Vinson said evidence would be presented to show that in 1898 a joint conference was held in Chicago between representatives of the United Mine Workers and operators of the Central Competitive Fields.

Since 1898 a constant effort to organize the West Virginia fields culminating in the miners march last August has been made by the United Mine Worker's, according to the operators' allegations.

Operators declared that the West Virginia non union fields producing in the national coal strike of November and December 1919, alone stood between the United Mine Workers and the accomplishment of their alleged purpose of "monopolizing the coal mines, labor and production of all coal in the United States and Canada and through that means of control of all industries using coal as fuel.

China's Bloodiest War Now Aobut to Start, Blame U. S.

Representative of South China at Washington Says Responsibility of Conflict, About to Begin, Rests With America.

New York, Oct. 13.—War in China threatens the far east program the president's armament conference and the bloodiest war in China's history is about to start, Dr. Ma Soo representative at Washington of the south China faction of the Chinese republic declared here today. He laid responsibility on the United States for refusal to invite south China to participate in the armament conference. The latest move of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of the south China republic in sending the rebellion in the northern provinces thirty thousand troops to aid ances is the direct result of Washington's action in recognizing the Pekin government, alone, and in ignoring south China's demands for representation, Dr. Ma Soo said.

"The greatest war China has ever known—the bloodiest in all its history—will start when President Sun Yat Sen, who will leave Canton today with a staff of generals leads three armies of ten thousand troops each from south China in a drive on Pekin," he said today.

COMMUNISTS ATTEMPT TO MARCH TO LLOYD GEORGE'S OFFICIAL RESIDENCE IN LONDON

London, Oct. 13.—Communists attempted to march to Premier Lloyd George's official residence in Downing street this afternoon during the most spectacular unemployment demonstration London has ever known.

Whitehall was in a virtual state of siege for labor organizations had previously given notice that idle workers would march past the government buildings and would send a deputation to the premier to demand relief.

Hundreds of policemen were massed in Whitehall and special "riot barricades" had been erected. Scores of police reservists were on duty in the vicinity of Downing street.

ANTIOCH COLLEGE TO PLAY ITS FIRST GAME OCTOBER 21

With students following the cooperative plan of education which is in force at Antioch College and which permits students to work five weeks and go to school five weeks, in order to combine practice with theory and enable them to support themselves while receiving an education, Coach Earl Prugh, of the Yellow Springs institution, has his hands full in attempting to construct a varsity football team.

There are three divisions of students operating under this plan, according to Mr. Prugh, who was coach for Troy high school before going to Antioch, and the first division, known as Division A, which he has been training for the last five weeks, has just left school and its members have taken positions all over the country.

At the same time, Division B the members of which have been employed for five weeks, returned to school. The other division, known as Division C, is composed of students who do not avail themselves of the cooperative course and who are in school all of the time, but their number is so small, that the director of physical education, obtains but little material from that source.

Surmounting those difficulties, Coach Prugh developed a rattling good squad from his Division A athletes and is promising an equally good combination with the division B athletes, with whom he has worked but two nights. Many gridiron stars from other institutions of learning are enrolled at Antioch and if the football mentor had all of these luminaries together on the same eleven, he would show some speed in Ohio football this fall. As it is he must content himself with training a new team every five weeks.

It will be mostly Division B football men who will Meet Cedarville College at Antioch Friday, Oct. 21, in the first varsity game of the season, according to Mr. Prugh. The game will be staged at Yellow Springs and will be started at three o'clock.

BRITISH CABINET DISCUSSES PLANS FOR ARMS MEETING

London, Oct. 12.—Great Britain's program at the Washington conference on limitation of armaments and far east problems was discussed by the cabinet today. Premier Lloyd George presided.

Various problems were reviewed and the personnel of the British delegation was considered at length.

It is now understood that A. J. Balfour, former foreign secretary and one of the foremost diplomats in Europe will head the British delegation.

Lloyd George wished to go to Washington and many officials urged him to head the British delegation but he decided, in view of the Irish peace parley and the unemployment crisis, to remain at home. It was pointed out, however, that this decision may be changed at the last minute. If the premier reverses his decision he probably will sail on the Aquitania on Nov. 5.

It is regarded as certain that Sir Laming-Worthington-Evans will be a member of the delegation while Sir Gordon Hewart, will accompany it as chief legal adviser. Sir Laming a member of the British delegation in the Irish peace conference and Sir Gordon is consultant of the British delegation on constitutional matters.

ADVOCATES TAKING OF FINGER PRINTS TO AVOID BIGAMY

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 13.—Taking finger prints of prospective bridegrooms at the time they obtain licenses to wed is advocated by Robert I. Miles, for 12 years head of the Bureau of Identification, Ohio State Penitentiary and an internationally known finger print expert ,as a means of curbing bigamy.

This new application of the finger print system was suggested by Miles in an address before members of the staff of the national Detectives Bureau Co., with which he is associated os chief of the identification department.

"It would not entail a great deal of labor or expense to install the finger print system in the offices of county clerks and, I am positive, this step would result in greatly checking the wave of bigamy," Miles said.

"Should a man already blessed with one mate, seek to obtain a marriage license elsewhere, a comparison of his finger prints with the files would disclose his status and a bigamous harriage be prevented.' '

Knew Lincoln But Disclaims All Title To Years He Has Seen

When Abraham Lincoln, lived and practiced law at Springfield, Illinois he frequently had to go to Lincoln, Logan county, Illinois, to handle cases before the circuit Court.

There, he had many dealings with a young boy, who despite his tender, years was efficiently handling the court records, as deputy clerk of the circuit court. That young lad, now with white hair, yet still maintaining a youthful appearance, was a visitor at the Court House here, Tuesday.

He is George B. Jenkins, of Columbus, 84 years "young," a native of Greene county in the neigborhood of Jamestown, and who is now visiting relatives in that village. Knowing Lincoln and serving under Grant does not make a man old, explained Mr. Jenkins, as he demonstrated his agility in dancing a jig within the stern precincts of Probate Court.

Mr. Jenkins went to Illinios when very young just a mere boy-and despite his tender years, qualified as the deputy clerk of the circuit court and served in that capacity for some time. Lincoln used to ride horseback to Lincoln, Illinois, and his many trips caused friendship to spring up between the then rising young lawyer and the young court official. At that time says Mr. Jenkins, people were remarking of the rapid strides and progress being made by the tall attorney from the state's capital.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, U. S. Grant, then a captain in the U. S. Army, was serving as mustering officer, enlisting men for the service, and Mr. Jenkins enlisted as a drummer boy with Captain Grant, serving with the twenty-first Illinois Infantry. He served five and one-half years in the war, being shot once in the left ear, while Grant rose rapidly in the service to the rank of General and won himself the prominence which later elected him president.

It was after the war that Mr. Jenkins saw Grant, then a Brigadier General, in Springfield. Although he recognized the man who had mustered him into the service, he did not expect Grant to remember the little drummer boy he had enfolled. But the General did recognize him.

"Why Jenkins, what are you doing here?", said Grant.

"You don't remember me, do you, General", Mr. Jenkins replied.

"Why certainly I remember the drummer boy with the Twenty-First Illinois Infantry," replied Grant.

No more turbulent times exist now, after the World War, than were experienced in those days following the civil conflict, say Mr. Jenkins. Then, when father fought against son, and brother fought brother, the nation was torn assunder as it never has been since, and it required time aplenty to wipe out the disorder wrought by the war.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM MEETS ELEVEN FRIDAY

Will the combination that has won three games without being scored on for Coach Jerry Katherman, permit West Alexandria to break that shut-out record?

This is the question that will be decided in fact on Gatch gridiron, Friday afternoon, but which has already been decided by the fans who have seen the splendid little blue and white team work this season, in conjecture.

The central high lads are in fine fettle for the fray, Friday. The same combination that has won the last two games will probably be used by Katherman. There is much joy in the local camp over the fact, Arthur Currie and "Doc" Lonnes, are now both rid of their crutches, and were not hurt as badly as at first thought. They will not play against West Alex however, but hope to be ready to don the moleskins again for the Hillsboro or Greenfield games.

SECRETS OF KLAN TO BE REVEALED IF PLANS CARRY

Imperial Wizard Will Be Put On Grill of Cross Examination.

Washington, Oct. 13—With the purpose of uncovering every secret activity of the Ku Klux Klan, some of which had been partly revealed in testimony, the house rules committee planned today to put on the grill of cross examination, Col. Wm. J. Simmons, the imperial wizard and emperor of the invisible empire.

Representatives of Jewish organizations, were also heard by the committee in their plea for a thorough investigation of the klan to the end that its race and creed antagonisms shall be fully exposed.

The Jewish representatives had been proceded before the investigation committee by leaders of the colored race against whom the malice of the organization is alleged to find most frequent outlet. Negro ministers told of crimes and outrages reported committed by klansmen against negroes, and said the morale of the race was breaking down under the spread of terrorism inaugurated by the klan.

ESTIMATE CORN CROP OF STATE ABOVE THE AVERAGE

Columbus, Oct. 13.—The 1921 crop of corn in Ohio is estimated at 150,000,000 bushels by the State-Federal Crop Reporting Service from the reports of correspondents throughout the State. This is 9,000,000 bushels above the five year average and 12,000,000 bushels less than last year and 24,000,000 bushels below the record crop of 1912. The indicated United States crop of 3,163,000,000 bushels is about 70,000,000 less than last year's crop of 365,000,000 bushels above the five year average. More than half the Ohio wheat crop has moved from the farmer's hands. Tobacco condition now stands at 84 percent as compared with 72 percent a month ago. The average weight of oats this year was only 25 pounds per measured bushel or only 80 per cent of the normal weight 32 pounds and the yield was 22 bushels per acre with a quality of 74 percent. Potatoes show a slight improvement over last month and other crops are generally unchanged. The total acreage in all crops is about 3 per cent less than last year.

The weather during the growing season has been more favorable for corn in the eastern three-fifths of the State than in some of the Western counties which ordinarily show a heavy production of corn. In the erally good but the rainfall has been Northwestern section corn is genunevenly distributed so that there will be great variation in the yield of corn in that section. In terms of percent condition the Ohio crop is 4 percent obove the ten year average. Indiana is 2 percent below, Illiois is 5 percent above the 10 year average. Iowa is 10 percent above the 10 year average and Missouri and Nebraska are each 12 percent above the 10 year average and the United States as a whole is 9 percent above the 10 year average.

AMERICAN NAVY PUSHES ITS PROGRAM

Washington, Oct. 13.—Regardless of the limitation of armament which may be effected by the international conference here next month, the American navy is going ahead with its building operations to round out a well balanced field.

While sympathetic with the aims and purposes of the conference, the navy is counting no chickens before they are hatched, and until the great powers of the world actually agree to limit their war preparations, the American navy is going ahead.

This policy on the part of the administration has been made clear to the money-providing committees of the house and senate by Secretary of the Navy Denby.

The American navy is seriously lacking in several highly important particulars and the naval heads want these holes securely plugged before the U. S. enters an agreement to limit future building.

MEETING ADJOURNS; FAILS TO SOLVE LABOR PROBLEM

Washington, Oct. 13.—Without attempting to reconcile the divergent views of the manufacturing and labor interests over the causes of unemployment and the present economic depression, President Harding's national conference on unemployment finally adjourned here at noon today.

The only report acted upon by the conference as a whole, was the report of the advisory committee submitted some days ago which placed the burden of solving the problem upon the communities and cities concerned.

No attempt was made to debate the controversial report of the committee on manufacturing—a majority of which recommended the abolition of the railway labor board, and the repeal of the Adamson 8 hour law on the railroads—or the minority report submitted by the labor delegates. The two reports were merely presented to the conference without comment.

The conference voted to have Secretary Hoover appoint a "standing committee" on unemployment, which can be re-called to Washington for counsel and advice in the discretion of Hoover.

SENATOR OFFERS CONGRATULATIONS

Washington, Oct. 13.—Senator "Tom" Watson, a stormy petrol of Georgia politics, created a furore in the Ku Klux Klan hearing before the house rules committee today.

While Colonel W. J. Simmons, the imperial wizard, was being examined as to the klan's finances and the salaries paid its officers, Senator Watson strolled into the committee room and publicly congratulated the wizard on his testimony.

The honor of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan is unsullied by the financial dealings of the organization, Col. William J. Simons, imperial wizard, today told the house rules committee, which is considering resolutions for a congressional investigation of the klan.

Simmons characterized charges against the klan as based on "suspicion and prejudice" and denied that klansmen had destroyed court records in Atlanta.

ATTEMPTED TO GET "HUSH" MONEY BUT LANDS IN PRISON

Blackmailer Threatened to Tell Some 'Awful' Things Police Told.

Columbus, Oct. 13—Accused of trying to obtain $200 as "hush" money from Miss Glenna B. Hanna, 83 Sixteenth Avenue this city, Robinson Hoover, Ashland, was arrested here.

Miss Hanna, it is claimed, received a letter September 29, last, in which Hoover is alleged to have threatened to tell some "awful" things about her if she did not place $100 under a grape vine in a certain back yard at a certain time. Miss Hanna, it is said, complied with the demand.

On October 7, Miss Hanna received another letter, she told the police, in which Hoover is alleged to have demanded another $100, to be placed under a "certain tomato can" at 10 p. m., October 11, in a certain backyard.

Acting upon advice from police officials Miss Hanna instead of depositing the $100, placed a paper bag, containing a stone, under the tomato can. Detectives Creek and Pennell, who arrested Hoover, said Hoover appeared at 10:05 p. m. They took him into custody after he is alleged to have placed the bag and stone in his pocket. Hoover, police claim, served time in the Mansfield reformatory for stealing. They claimed, also, that he was given a suspended sentence after committing another crime.

Logan, W. Va., Oct. 13.—Judge Robert Bland, circuit court, continued cases against thirty one men, growing out of the miners march until January 26 yesterday. Defendants were arraigned for trial early in the day but after hours of argument both defense and state agreed to the postponement.

Nearly 400 indictments have been returned by special and regular grand juries against participants in the miners march against Logan county.

Both sides will require many weeks to prepare their cases. The defense served notice it would ask for a change of venue, declaring a fair trial would be impossible in Logan county.

HARDING IS URGED TO INVITE WILSON.

It has been suggested in Washington, that Woodrow Wilson should be invited to attend the unknown soldier burial rites at Arlington Cemetery on Armistice Day. The idea originated, apparently, with friends and admirers of the former President, who seem imbued with the conviction that it would appeal to a man of President Harding's sentimentalism as a fine and gracious thought. They express the belief it would so appeal to the country at large and strengthen the firm hold Mr. Harding already has on the popular imagination as a statesman of particularly "human" quality.

The proposal that the stricken sage, who was commander-in-chief of the United States Army and Navy during the World War, should participate in the honors to the unidentified hero of the A. E. F., springs from the view that Woodrow Wilson, too, in a way, "fell in action." The former President's closest admirers have advanced that conception of his physical collapse ever since its occurrence two years ago.

The thought is expressed that President Harding, if agreeable to the Arlington suggestion, might invite not only Woodrow Wilson, but William Howard Taft to join in their capacities as our two only living former Presidents.

FORCED TO LET HIS CASTLE AND RENT A MODEST FLAT.

Poverty, high taxes and the irresistible lure of American dollars have forced Earl Spenser, who owns some of the finest castles and properties in Great Britain, to take up lodgings in a modest flat in St. James place, London, almost in the shadow of his splendid town mansion, "Spencer House," which no longer is open to him for habitation.

The reason for this is that when the higher taxes and his lowered income first began to pinch Lord Spencer leased Spencer House to Princess Anastasia of Greece, formerly Mrs. Leeds, and went to live in his splendid castle, Althorp House, which is regarded as one of the finest and oldest castles in Great Britain. But this refuge now is denied to the Earl, who announces today that he no longer can afford to keep up the castle and it will be closed immediately for an "indefinite period."

He tried to regain his city home, but Princess Anastasia remained adamant in her decision to enforce the terms of the long period lease, although she is seldom there and the house usually is barricaded, with only a caretaker in charge. Lor Spencer then thought he could retire to a small shooting box in Norfolk, but found his estate manager had rented it. His only alternative was to take a small London flat—an exile from his own homes.

Lord Spencer's poverty is further accentuated by the fact that in Althorp House he possesses a priceless collection of pictures and the finest family collection of gold and silver plate in Europe, including the famous Marlborough plate and a silver wine cistern weighing 2000 ounces. But he cannot realize a penny on the lot because it is entailed.

Simultaneously another poverty plea was made by a wealthy peer when the Marquis of Northampton told his tenants that he had not received a cent of income since the armistice, either from his London or country estates.

HOW THE MAN IN MAINE BUYS OREGON APPLES.

Commerce lives through the interchange of products. California fruits are sold in Maine. Shoes made in New England are worn on the Pacific slope. Automobiles from Detroit traverse the Florida sands; the North smokes Southern tobacco. And so it goes.

Advertising has played an all important part in fostering business growth. Without it we would retrograde half a century, or more. Business would stagnate; large institutions which build cheaply by large production would fade into oblivion; we would live in total ignorance of many things which might add to our wealth, health and happiness.

The bread and butter of business depend on advertising, and your interest in it.

Read the advertisements. They will be as productive of results to you as to the companies that pay for them. In half an hour, or less, you can learn much of many things that go to make life what it is.

Read the advertising. It enables you to get more for your money by telling you what to buy. It is your guide to what's good to get.

INFLUENZA

Influenza or grippe is an epidemic disease which extends with extraordinary rapidity. It is likely to "get" some 40 per cent of the population it visits, and to be epidemic from six to eight weeks. Its specific germ, without which, of course, its existence were impossible, is the Baccillus Influenza. "Cold in the head," (coryza) pains all over, "in the bones" chills and fever; suffering oftentimes severe enough to prostrate are the distinctive features.

In the respiratory (the most common) form of the grippe, the eyes are watery and inflamed; the handkerchief is—or ought to be—in constant requisition to keep the germ from others as it is sneezed, coughed, or spat out. Sore throat, bronchitis, pain in the chest, and profuse perspiration, are in evidence. Or the digestive apparatus may suffer most; nausea, vomiting, collapse, colic, jaundice perhaps, debility invariably.

Or the nervous symptoms may be most manifest; intense headache and backache, pain in the eyes, a racing pulse, inflammation of particular nerves, depressed spirits, and a profound prostration. The suffering may be so great that the diagnosis of meningitis may be made.

Or there will be the fourth, the peculiarly febrile form, in which the temperature may go up to the dangerous height of 105 degrees; this febrile form has to be differentiated from typhoid fever. Complications of grippe, heart, and kidney disease, middle ear disease and mastoid abscess have to be feared; also pleurisy and pneumonia, and, in young children broncho-pneumonia. Too often, also, grippe leaves in its train chronic ill-health, a wobbly heart, and a pathetic listlessness in erstwhile strong and virile men, and many a case of latent tuberculosis has thus become no longer dormant. Influenza does not defer to climate, wind or weather. Cases are, however, more frequent in the winter months.

IT'S A GRAND OLD REMEDY

You can't keep strong and well without sleep. Whether your rest is broken by a painful hacking cough or just an annoying tickling in the throat, the system becomes weakened and rundown. Mrs. K. D. Drake, Childs, Md., writes: "After an attack of the 'flu' I was left with a severe cough. Nothing relieved me till I used Foleys Honey and Tar, which I can highly recommend." It covers irritated membranes with a healing and soothing coating, loosens phlegm and clears air passages. Sayre & Hemphill.

Dinty:— You should weigh 110 pounds. You are the Irish type.

J. A. S.:—If you refer to the new hair tonic that has pilocarpine in it you will surely get results from it. The henna, when used with the tonic is merely to tint these stray hairs that have turned grey; in this case, the henna is used in the shampoo, but not allowed to remain on the hair longer than is needed for the actual time required in washing the hair.

Reader: Margie; Edith; S. M.; Anxious; Peggy; Fat; Lillie; Zyppye:—At 22 years, five feet two inches, the weight should be 115 pounds at 17, five feet four inches, weight about 130 pounds; at 15, pounds less would be all right; at 20, five feet seven inches, weight should be 135; at 15 four feet eleven inches, weight will be 110 pounds; at 18, five feet seven, weight about 130 pounrs; at 15, five feet four inches, weight 115 pounds, at 21, five feet four inches, weight about 122 pounds; at 19, five feet seven, weight 133 pounds.

Thankful; Dotty:—To overcome nits or vermin in the hair, first soak the hair in kerosene. Tie up the hair overnight, so as not to stain the bed linen. Next morning shampoo with hot water and soap, and dry. This kills the active vermin. Then soak the hair and scalp in vinegar, to loosen the eggs which have been glued to the shaft of the hair. Comb out with a fine-toothed comb kept wet with vinegar and you will get out all of these eggs. Sometimes it is necessary to lace the teeth of the comb to remove the last of these eggs.

Ruth H.: Send a stamped addressed envelope for directions on dieting, which will be mailed to you.

Brunette; Thankful; M. J. B. Madge; Constant Reader; Freckles; Miss A. F.; E. W. L.; Bert C. B.; Disgusted:—The oily skin and the one inclined to pimples and blackheads should be treated first through the system, as their origin is usually found in digestive disturbances. The oily skin often indicates that the liver is sluggish and there is too much food being taken into the system, which has an excess of fat. The skin will try to relieve the body when the other organs of elimination cannot cope with it. This will also coarsen the pores, which will be so clogged with this heavy secretion, it becomes the harbor for soil and the disfiguring blackheads. Whiteheads also come from this internal derangement. Three cakes of yeast each day will be very helpful in these cases, as the yeast supplies food elements which such people have usually neglected and a simple astringent such as witchhazel will act as a mild astringent that will soothe the skin and refine the pores.

Anxious Red—A cold bath taken every morning on rising will harden your skin, so it will not be so sensitive to the air and sun. If you have never taken them, begin by sponging with the cold water and after a few days try the shower, but do not delay the time for taking the full plunge every morning in the tub. This should be followed quickly by friction from a coarse towel. If this habit is formed now, there need be no cessation in these baths throughout the year.

Combination—A good osteopath would likely cure you of all your ailments. Do not attempt to doctor your self by making use of the medicines mentioned.

PAPERS SEIZED, SHOW PURCHASES OF BOOZE

New York, Oct. 13.—Papers revealing the purchase of thousands of bottles of liquor from bootleggers have fallen into the hands of prohibition agents through the arrest of six men in Long Island City, federal officials said yesterday. Deliveries were made to clubs, restaurants, cafes and fashionable apartment houses. In some instances the papers show the prices charged. Whisky costing the bootlegger $24.50 a case brought on an average of $87.

Special Revenue Agent McQuillan whose deputies made the capture, later said that the papers were being examined carefully with a view to taking "such action as is warranted."

One of the papers bore a notation directing a truckman to deliver three cases of whisky to an address near the criminal courts building. It said: "Deliver Lafayette side. If policeman is there, O. K. After noon to 6 p. m., morning after 7.

Besides the papers, the pockets of Charles S. Kurtsman, one of the men arrested, contained $22,500 in cash and a certified check for $10,000.

The six men are alleged to have been attempting to secure the delivery of 2000 cases of liquor from a bonded warehouse by means of forged permits at the time of their seizure.

A Parisian conception of a trig tailored frock is shown in this model of dark blue serge, which is trimmed with very narrow black cire braid, surmounted by a rectangle of shiny steel buttons each enclosed in a circle of the braid. Such are the ingenious trimming devices that give these foreign frocks their chic, however simple the design of the dress itself may be. Note, too, the cut of the sleeve, which flares somewhat at the wrist, and the bateau neckline, which will is considered the smartest finish. The foundation skirt is of silk with a deep hem of the serge, and may be adjusted on an elastic belt or joined to a bodice lining, to which the sleeves may be attached, thus leaving a freer armhole.

CUTTING EXPENSES.

"We must cut down expenses," says Warren Ga., aloud, and thus he charms the senses of his tax--weary crowd; beneath our load we've drifted, and hoped to see it shifted; we'd like to see it lifted before we draw a shroud. "What is the use of working?" the heartsick voters say; "the tax collector's lurking to take our roll away; he watches what we're earning, tax hunger in him burning, and, when from work returning, he jumps us for our pay. What is the use of saving?" the weary workers cry; "of pinching and of slaving, to put a bundle by; the tax collector's waiting, his zeal is not abating, we hear his teeth a-grating, he looks on us as pie." The heavy burden never will from our shoulders drop unless there's an endeavor to make expenses stop; the foolish bonehead spending, the wanton waste unending; and Warren's slogan's lending some hope to souls that flop. "We must cut down expenses!" No wiser word's been sprung since Adam built his fences, when this old world was young; until that creed is taken, and wasteful ways forsaken, we still must lose our bacon, by tax collectors stung.

TIPS ON GARDEN MAKING

A cold frame is a most useful article for the home gardener. It will serve this fall to carry lettuce into the late fall keep parsley over winter, have blooming pansies up till Christmas or Thanksgiving, at least, if the weather happens to be fairly mild, and in which to winter hybrid tea rose cuttings rooted during the summer, such perennials as Canterbury bells and foxgloves which are likely to rot if exposed to wet weather and frequent thaws and then in the spring to get an early start with the seeds.

It is not necessary to buy anything but the sash for these frames which run in standard sizes of 3 by 6 feet. They are best made of 2-inch stuff for permanence, although these are heavy to handle, but inch lumber may be used quite as well. It is best to put them together with bolts so that they may be knocked down and stored when not in use.

A cold frame and a hot-bed frame are precisely the same, and it will be an easy matter to look over some hot bed in your vicinity and see just how the frame is put together and use it as a model to make one for your own garden. The illustration gives an idea of the construction of the frame. The back usually is 2 feet high and the front 6 inches, which gives the proper slant for the glass to shed the rains and to catch all the sunlight there is.

SCHOOLING SYSTEM SHOULD FIT CHILD SPEAKER DECLARES

A history of education and an analysis of the present educational system, was the theme of the address given, Wednesday evening, before the teachers of the public schools assembled in the McKinley school auditorium, by L. E. York, superintendent of the Massillon, Ohio, schools.

Superintendent York spoke on the subject "The Old Education and the New" and he diagnosed each form of the past educational systems, and the systems in effect today, describing and classifying them. "We are living in a new day but it is good to get a perspective on the new from the vantage of the old," he said in revealing facts with the beginning of education, when, in ancient Greece, the political system was in vogue, with its aim the education to civil citizenship.

The next era, the educator described, was that of the encyclopedic system of education, which superseded the political system, and which had for its aim the teaching of culture. Following the coming of and the going forth of the Christian teachers, the educators accepted the encyclopedic system as correct, but substituted citizenship, in the light of citizenship in the Kingdom of heaven, for culture, as its aim.

Bringing his discourse into the semi-modern period, Mr. York reviewed the teachings of the various great educators from the sixteenth century on, each setting forth some new idea of education, only to have that idea reversed by the next generation. In this part of his discourse he reviewed the teachings of John Locke, of Froeble and of Herbert, and of Froeble's introduction of the Kindergarden and Herbart's theories of apperception.

Launching into the modern era, Superintendent York said: "I think the system we use in the schools today is an organic system, with its aim, civilization. The secret of the success in education," he said, "is in making the system fit the child, rather than the child to fit the system. Some day we will come to this. Mr. York closed with a quotation which he asked his hearers to memorize. It read thus: "Every man hath within himself a continent of undiscovered character. Happy is he who becomes the Columbus of his own soul."

In his opening remarks, Superintendent York paid a tribute to the late superintendet E. B. Cox, of the local schools, whom he knew personally. Miss Jean B. Elwell, was in charge of the program of the meeting which was the regular teachers' session. A musical program preceded the address of Supt. York, Miss Helen Ferguson of East high school singing "Thank God" and "Love Me," playing her own piano accompaniment and Miss Irene Parrett givig two violin selectins, accmpanied by Miss Theda Dwning, at the piano.

Several other children, younger than the dead girl were in the house at the time of the accident. The girl ran into the yard, her clothing aflame, and was aided by neighbors who were attracted by her screams. She was removed to the McClellan Hospital, where it was found that her entire body was burned, with the exception of her face.

Besides the parents, the child is survived by six other children. Funeral services will be held at the home at 2:30 Saturday afternoon.

NOTED SINGER AT WAR WITH HUSBAND

Mme. Ganna Walska Cochran, the wife of Alexander Smith Cochran, millionaire carpet manufacturer, is planning to strike first in court by demanding a divorce from her husband.

I no longer carry a driver in my bag of clubs.

"Do you mean to say," one of the country's star golfers at the recent St. Louis Tournament, asked me, "that the only long driving clubs you carry are a brassie and a mid-iron?"

And I answered "yes."

At tournaments and elsewhere, golfers desiring to improve their game usually examine closely the clubs carried by the best playes. I have observed that many people have been surprised at the scantiness of my bag, as compared with those carried by other players. Some of the star shooters rarry from a doen to fifteen rlubs. Willie Hunter, the British amateur champion carries a tremendous leather bag that is almost a trunk and it is well-filled with clubs.

The hard hitter from the tee in golf matches of importance, is about what the airplanist was at the front—he supplies the spectacular, and the newspaper report give much attention to his great wallops. It takes patience, control and a good deal of experience for a player to bear being out-driven from the tee, as I nearly always am. Spectators who have watched my game invariably notice that I am not very long off the tee. Part of the reason for this is that I drive with a brassie.

Underneath this, however I play a game that is not at all observable to the watchers. That is, I usually play my second shot first, and for that reason I have a considerable advantage in being somewhat short off the tee. When one is a good second shot player he causes his opponent much difficulty by putting a picture of the ball close to the hole in his mind about the time he is ready to play his shot.

Long ago I decided once and for all on the principle of accuracy in preferrence to distance. And anyone can drive straighter with a brassie than he can with a driver. Only against a wind is one likely to have trouble, for a ball leaving a brassie loft fights a wind less successfully than off a straight driver face. On the other hand I play always for a ball with less roll, and a brassie-hit ball does not roll very much.

I use the one wooden club, also because the more shots I make with the one club the more familiar and accurate I become with is use. I have parted company with all clubs, which have only the usefulness of a stroke or two each round and then only if something unusual happens.

How do I get a ball up with a brassie when I should play a spoon? Simple enough—I lay the face over a little. And this year I have played a shot which has given me much satisfaction. You never hear of it any more but I hope I shall never forget how to play it. It is the half-wooden club shot. I am playing it instead of carrying a driving iron.

My brassie has 325 yards in off of the fairway when I push it, and it puts a ball 225 yeards from the tee accurately. There are times when the ball must be held to mighty narrow confines—when one wishes to play right up to a hazard and still not into it. The force of a driver or a long iron are difficult to control in such cases. Golf is, as the game becomes expert, more a matter of finger touch and delicacy than of force, when you attain a fuller mastery of the game some clubs you find to be al together too powerful.

Oct. 13.—A local contractor is authority for the statement that inquiries made during the past few weeks indicate considerable building here next year, with the possibility of two or three new business blocks being erected to meet the constantly increasing demand for business rooms ,and many new residence properties.

The lowering of freight rates is believed to be all that is necessary to insure the building program being carried out as indicated.

GIVES HISTORY OF COLUMBUS AT CHURCH WEDNESDAY EVENING

A discourse and history on the life and trials of Christopher Columbus, was presented by the Rev. Father O'Brien, of Cummingsville, as the principal speaker on the program that followed the banquet given in St. Brigid's parochial school auditorium, Wednesday night by Xenia Council, No. 1801, Kights of Columbus.

The affair was arranged in celebration of the 429th anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus, after whom the order was named, October 12, 1492. The banquet itself was served at eight o'clock and the auditorium was crowded, there being covers for 150 people.

Charles O'Brien, chairman of the committee of Knights in charge of the banquet, acted as toastmaster and introduced the Rev. Father O'Brien, as the first speaker. An interesting history of the trials and tribulations of Columbus and his subsequent support by Queen Isabella, making his excursion to the new country possible, was given by Father O'Brien.

Arthur Leen, Dayton Knight and attorney, who was the other speaker of the evening, dwelt in the majority on the order of the Knights of Columbus, its origin, organization, purposes and its relation in name to Christopher Columbus. His talk though interesting, was brief.

The musical portion of the evening's program was furnished entirely by Wilmington people. Miss Elizabeth Reardon and Ray Morrissey offering vocal selections, accompanied by Charles Fisher at the piano. Each artist sang three numbers that were especially pleasing and Mr. Morrissey's closing number was "Deep in My Heart" which was composed by Mr. Fisher himself.

The attendance at the banquet attested to the popularity of the affair both Knights and women being present. As a tribute to the nationality of the discoverer of America, the menu was printed in Spanish.

NAME DR. BRITAN AS MODERATOR

Three hundred ministers and laymen are in attendance.

Rev. Dr. Joseph Taylor Britan of Central Presbyterian Church was elected moderator of the Ohio Synod of the Presbyterian Church. The appointment is for one year. Rev. Rev. R. F. Smith, of Marion, was elected clerk of the synod.

Rev. A. L. Peters, Columbus was appointed vice moderator and Rev. George N. Lucock of Wooster College, chairman.

USE ROAD DRAGS FOR IMPROVEMENT

Urbana, Oct. 13.—A box car loaded with fifty road drags destined for use on the Champaign county highways has arrived in Urbana and the drags are now being parcelled out to the trustees of the various townships, it was announced at the office of county Surveyor Raymond H. Smith, Monday.

The drags cost the county over $1,100 but they will pay for themselves many times in better roads. The county now has between sixty and seventy drags for use on its roads.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

CAR TURNS OVER LATE WEDNESDAY DRIVER ESCAPES

When attempting to turn, while going at a high rate of speed at Dayton Avenue, and Main street, the touring car driven by a traveling salesman, from Boston, whose name was not learned, skidded and overturned on the bridge there about six o'clock, Wednesday evening.

The driver of the car, and the other occupant, a boy from Trebeins who had ridden to this city in the rar, escaped uninjured, but the car was damaged to the extent of about $40, a wheel and axle being broken. The car hit the curbing at the turn, the force of the impact, causing the driver to lose control of the machine, which overturned on the other side of the street.

The car was taken to a local garage, where it was repaired. The owner left, Thursday morning, for Springfield.

OHIO WESLEYAN TO ABOLISH TRADITION

Marion, O., Oct. 13.—After standing as one of the cherished traditions of Ohio Wesleyan University, at Delaware for more than 20 years, the sulphur spring fight, staged annually by the two under classes, has been abolished by action of the Student Council, according to word received at the bedside today of Bird Jacoby, 18 years old, who has been at the point of death, at his home here since Sept. 18, following his plunge into the big spring bowl.

The vote for its discontinuance is said to have been unanimous on the part of the student body.

Jacoby who is suffering from spinal meningitis, was improved slightly last night, but attending physicians held no hope for his recovery.

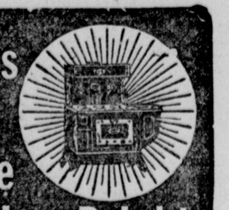

LOSES LEG WHEN HE FALLS FROM TRAIN

Wilmington, Oct. 13.—Frank Craig, aged 16, was found along the B. & O. tracks a mile west of Cozaddale Tuesday with one leg badly mangled and a severe injury in his side. It was necessary to amputate the leg.

The boy who is now in the Blanchester hospital says that he has no relatives with the exception of Mrs. F. H. Fritz of Nelson, O. He says he was riding a westbound freight train and fell asleep and was jostled off the train. This happened about 2 Tuesday morning, he says.

The lad was not noticed until Midland train No. 35 passed him. The train dispatcher was notified that the boy was seen lying beside the tracks and orders were given Chillicothe local freight No. 86 in charge of Conductor Dave Thomas, to pick the boy up. He was then taken to Blanchester.

After the first payment is made the balance is as easy to meet as paying rent, only at the end of a certain number of years the purchaser will have a home of his own free from debt, instead of a bunch of rent receipts that stand for nothing except a record of the amount of money paid into some other man's pocket. Every day in the Classified columns is advertised the kind of a home you have been longing for. Turn back NOW and read about these homes that are being offered by the most reliable dealers.

SAYS MILITARISM DENOUNCED DURING DAYS OF APOSTLES

"The only true time of peace was when the Word of the Gospel was being spread through the Old World," was one of the statements of the Rev. J. L. Kelso, at the Wednesday evening session, of the Second Synod of the United Presbyterian Church," and at that time, Militarism was as largely criticised as it is today. The truest and most worthy soldiers were the soldiers of the Cross, and the same holds true today as it did in the time of Paul."

"Those who follow the beaten path to God, are given the power to perform the task," said the Rev. C. G. Lunan, during his address upon "Power for the Task," at the evening session. "Weeds of discouragement do not grow in the beaten path to God and the person who carries a message from him will not falter.

The Rev. J. Alvin Orr, of Pittsburgh, gave an inspiring address upon the New World plans, at the session, taking the place of the Rev. W. I. Wishart, who was unable to attend the synod. The Rev. Orr gave an interesting talk upon the five-year campaign that has been laid out for the church, and dealt in particular with the work that will be laid before congress to be held in Pittsburgh in Feburary. The extension of the work of the Foreign and Home Missions, and plans for the carrying forward of the work was discussed by the Rev. Orr.

J. J. Porter, corresponding secretary of the Board of Church Extension, gave a short address at the close of the program, dealing with the far-reaching work of the financial body of the church in building church and carrying the Word of the Gospel to the places where it was never before found.

A continuation of the theme concerning Paul's power as a Roman citizen was given by the Rev. Kelso during the afternoon program. The subject of the Rev. Kelso's address at this session was "Roman Road, and Roman Provincial Cities, as a Key to Paul's Missionary Program and Policy.

Addresses were given during the session by the Rev. J. W. Kerr, D. D., upon "The Upper Room and Its Value," the Rev. D. L. McBride, upon "Facing the Task," and the Rev. A. G. Hastings, D. D., upon "Responsibility for Evangelistic Leadership," The Conference on Methods, for which the Rev. W. I. Wishart, D. D., was scheduled to conduct, was in charge of the Rev. R. W. McGranhan. D. D.

At the close of the program of addresses, a conference of treasurers and financial agents, was held in the Sabbath, of the Sugarcreek congregation-Prugh, of the Sugarcreek congregation, presiding. A committee on resolutions was appointed at the conference, which will report at the session, Thursday morning.

BLAZE DESTROYS AUTOMOBILE AND GARAGE WEDNESDAY

Fire, starting from an unknown origin, destroyed the garage belonging to B. L. Hughey, in the rear of his home on Home avenue, with its contents, including a Briscoe touring car, shortly before eight o'clock, Wednesday night.

The fire was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Henry McKee next door to the Hughey home, who notified Mr. Hughey. The inside of the structure was blazing when it was discoveed and the flames quickly burned through the roof of the frame building. Fortunately, there was no gasoline kept in the building and the automobile tank was empty.

The fire department extinguished the blaze quickly after its arrival, but the fire had already destroyed the machine and the garage. Mr. Hughey had been working in the building a short time before, but could give no explanation of the cause of the fire.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A. Kirkman

TRY THESE APPLE PRESERVES

Gingered Apples: Put 1 pint of water and 5 ounces of bruised ginger root over the fire and let this simmer for 2 hours, adding a little more water as it boils away. Wipe 3 large lemons clean and grate off the thin yellow rind; add the juice to this and turn this grated rind and juice into the simmering ginger water. Let boil for a few minutes, then remove the pieces of ginger, tie them securely in a small muslin bag, and put them back into the saucepan. Pare, core and chop rather coarsely five pounds of tart apples and add this to the simmering liquid, together with 5 pounds of granulated sugar. Boil this mixture slowly until the bits of apple look clear then turn into hot, sterilized jars (removing the bag of ginger root) and seal while hot.

Apple Butter: Pare, quarter and core 1 peck of sour apples and 2 quarts of sweet apples. Add enough cider to cover and let cook, stirring occasionally, until the apples are reduced to a consistency like that of marmalade, then add granulated sugar to equal one-half the weight of the apples before they were cooked. Also add 1 tablespoon cinnamon and 1-2 teaspoon cloves (or use any spices preferred. Store when very thick in hot, sterilized jars.

Apple-Mint Jelly: Cut the apples in quarters and barely cover with boiling water; let simmer until tender then turn them into a jelly bag. For 1 quart of this strained juice place 3 cups of sugar in the oven on shallow plates (to heat slightly.) Put the juice into the preserving kettle with the crushed leaves and stalks from a generous bunch of mint and let cook 20 minutes, then strain again. Heat the juice once more to boiling point, add the warm sugar and let boil till the jelly stage is reached. Tint a light green with some green vegetable coloring paste. Turn into hot, sterilized glasses and let cool before covering with hot paraffine.

Spiced Apple Jelly: (Fine with cold meats.) 1-2 peck apples, 3 pints vinegar, 1 pint water, 1 ounce stick cinnamon, 1-2 ounce whole cloves. Put these ingredients together in the preserving kettle after quartering the apples (not paring or coring them) and tying the spices together in a small cheesecloth bag. Then, when the apples are tender, turn them into the jelly bag and let drip without forcing the juice through. Measure this strained juice and return it to the kettle, boil 20 minutes, add 1 cup of warm granulated sugar for every cup of juice that was measured previously, and let boil until the jelly stage is reached (that is, until 2 drops will form at once on the edge of a spoon when a little juice is dripped back into the kettle from a height.) Turn into hot, sterilized glasses and cover when cold with paraffine.

S. H. Answer: To remove the vomit stains from your child's blue taffeta coat, first try soaking the stained portion in salt and water. There is generally mucus in such stains, and salt dissolves this. If the dye in the material is a good one, you might try soaking the spots in very weak ammonia water—but first test this treatment on a sample of the material before risking the coat itelf. If these two attempts fail to remove the spots, apply gasoline or naptha on the chance that they may be successful, take care not to use these fluids near heat or flame.

THE NEW GENERATION

JOAN SITS THROUGH AN UNCOMFORTABLE DINNER.
CHAPTER 62

"By Jove, Margaret, you are stunning!" Craig Forrester said as he came in followed by Mrs. Walters.

Margaret glanced at Joan. Her daughter's face was almost tearful.

"How de do Joan?" Mrs. Walters kissed the girl's cheek, then Craig Forrester greeted her. To him she gave a look that said as plainly as words:

"You're to blame for what my mother is doing, and I dislike you more than ever."

Margaret saw the look, and she felt a little qualm for what she knew her daughter was suffering. For the young do suffer under such circumstances.

Mrs. Walters drew Joan to one side.

"Isn't your mother a wonder?" she asked.

"I don't understand!" Joan said again. It seemed all she was capable of saying.

"What don't you understand.."

"Why she left Willcot; what she is doing here—like this," Joan's glance took in the room, Margaret, her clothes, everything.

"There's nothing to understand, Joan. Margaret was bored to death after you left so she came to New York to play around a bit. The theaters, and other amusements you know."

"But this—this apartment"!

"Wasn't it fortunate she could rent such a darling place? It is a perfect setting for her beauty. I tell her it was built and furnished expressly for her. And isn't she young and lovely? I took her to my dressmaker at once. Those clothes she used to wear made her a sight." Janet Walters was doing her part well, if one were to judge by the look on Joan's face.

"I never thought my mother a sight."

"No, she couldn't be! She's too lovely. But isn't she far more attractive now than she used to be, and in such a short time too.."

"I don't know—I don't like it—any of it. Why didn't she let me know.. Her letters cale from Willcot." Still bewildered.

Margaret interrupted.

"Dinner you two! What are you so serious about?" she presented Joan to two other guests who had just arrived, and then led the way to the dining room leaning on Craig Forrester's arm. She placed Joan at the farther end of the table, where she could see her, but not talk with her. George Watson, a young lawyer on one side, and Mrs. Walters on the other.

The dinner was along torture to Joan. She watched her mother—her young mother scintillate and sparkle, she saw Craig Forrester's devotion, openly expressed. When Watson spoke she answered at random, and felt angry when he mentioned her mother's youth, and intimated that she, Joan, was only a child.

In the charming living room Margaret drew Joan to her.

"You will have to run along now, dear, we are going on to the theater. Hannah will ride home with you. The taxie is here.

"But—mother!"

"Run along now! We'll see each other often. I'll come up to see how you are fixed tomorrow—no the day after—I have a luncheon engagement tomorrow, and a theater at night. I won't have a minute but the day after I'll surely look you up." The seeming indifference of her mother almost took Joan's breath away; almost took her overlook the fact that she was being sent home like a naughty child while her mother, old enough to know better, was going to have a good time.

As it had happened twice before that evening, Joan's face became almost tearful. She gulped back a sobs as Hannah waited in the doorway, her instruction to follow out the plan her mistress had outlined in her talk with Joan. Margaret mistrusted oJan would question old Hannah.

"There, dear! We will see each other often now that I am living in New York," Margaret comforted as she folded Joan in her arms, and kissed her fondly. Because she wanted her daughter to understand that she Margaret, had regained her youth, was no reason she shouldn't also understand that her affection was unchanged; that she loved her as devotedly as ever.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE LIFE

A Dangerous Period Through Which Every Woman Must Pass

Practical Suggestions Given by the Women Whose Letters Follow

Afton, Tenn.—"I want other suffering women to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. During the Change of Life I was in bed for eight months and had two good doctors treating me but they did me no good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and in a short time I felt better. I had all kinds of bad spells, but they all left me. Now when I feel weak and nervous I take the Vegetable Compound and it always does me good. I wish all women would try it during the Change of Life for I know it will do them good. If you think it will induce some one to try the Vegetable Compound you may publish this letter."—Mrs. A. KELLER, Afton, Tenn.

Mrs. Mary Lister of Adrian, Mich., adds her testimony to the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to carry women safely through the Change of Life. She says:

"It is with pleasure that I write to you thanking you for what your wonderful medicine has done for me. I was passing through the Change of Life and had a displacement and weakness so that I could not stand on my feet and other annoying symptoms. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the first bottle helped me, so I got more. It cured me and I am now doing my housework. Your medicine is certainly woman's friend and you may use this testimonial as you choose."—Mrs. MARY LISTER, 608 Frank Street, Adrian, Mich.

It is said that middle age is the most trying period in a woman's life, and owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand passes through this perfectly natural change without experiencing very annoying symptoms.

Those smothering spells, the dreadful hot flashes that send the blood rushing to the head until it seems as though it would burst, and the faint feeling that follows, as if the heart were going to stop, those sinking or dizzy spells are all symptoms of a nervous condition, and indicate the need for a special medicine.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a root and herb medicine especially adapted to act upon the feminine system. It acts in such a manner as to build up the weakened nervous system and enables a woman to pass this trying period with the least possible annoying symptoms.

Women everywhere should remember that most of the commoner ailments of women are not the surgical ones—they are not caused by serious displacements or growths, although the symptoms may be the same, and that is why so many apparently serious ailments readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it acts as a natural restorative and often prevents serious troubles.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.
